IAC-M-270
4 December 1956

1. Approval of Minutes

a. 27 November Meeting
(IAC-M-268)

Approved as written.

b. 29 November Meeting
(IAC-M-269)

Approved as written.

2. Watch Committee Report
No. 330

Noted this report.

3. Proposed Review of Procedures of the Watch Committee and the National Indications Center
(IAC-D-6/14, 23 November 1956)

a. In response to the Chairman's request for any general comment on his proposal, General Collins referred to his memorandum on this matter and stated that, since the watch machinery recently had had a test run under high pressure conditions, it appeared to be an appropriate time for examining the Watch Committee and National Indications Center (NIC) procedures. Subsequently, after noting that he was not necessarily suggesting that there were deficiencies, General Collins emphasized that he was interested particularly in a review of mechanical arrangements affecting operation of the NIC and the Watch Committee.

b. The Chairman and each of the members expressed his views on this proposal, covering generally matters such as the desirability, timing and scope of any review. The members also exchanged views with [ ] on various matters relevant to operation of the NIC. Several members suggested that an attempt be made initially to identify or isolate those problems which might require study. During the discussion, it was also noted by General Cabell that Watch Reports were designed mainly for use by the intelligence community, and were drafted in a form which envisioned appropriate elaboration by intelligence agencies prior to their use, particularly by field or operational commanders.

c. Following their discussion, the members agreed, with the concurrence of General Collins, that, prior to any further action on this matter, the NIC should prepare a list of possible problems or areas of deficiency in the watch machinery procedures, which list should then be submitted for review by the IAC at an early IAC meeting.

4. Ad Hoc Current Intelligence
Group for the Taiwan Strait Problem

a. After Mr. Sheldon referred to certain matters bearing on the operation of this working group, and raised a question with respect to the nature and frequency of future meetings, the members discussed various factors affecting this problem. In the course of the discussion, Admiral Frost queried whether the scope of the group's activities should be broadened. Responding to a question by the Chairman, General Cabell also noted that the group does not duplicate but rather assists the work of the National Indications Center.

b. Following their discussion, the members agreed that this group should meet at least once a month, but that, during the period between monthly meetings, there should be a telephone check to obtain views of the members of the working group on recent developments. It was also agreed that Admiral Frost could outline in more detail at a later IAC meeting any proposal he might have for broadening the mandate of the group.

5. CIA Memorandum

Following distribution to the members of a CIA memorandum touching on certain aspects of the Egyptian and Suez situation, the Chairman stated that this paper had been passed to the White House and Secretary of State. The Chairman invited the members to give him any comments they might have on the paper prior to the next scheduled NSC meeting.

6. Report by Mr. Wisner

The Chairman introduced Mr. Wisner, who reviewed generally various aspects of his recent trip abroad, particularly his impressions gained with respect to developments in Western Europe, the Satellites and Middle East.
